

The bigger the package, the more you save. Generally, it will cost more to process and package four bags of a product (weighing 1 kg) than it would cost to package the same product in 1 bag (weighing 4kg). How do you plan your buying strategy? A bulky bag will cost less per unit (1 kg) than a smaller package (1 kg). Remember that the discount on more oversized packages isn't usually valid. The seller offers you the cost-degression-effect incurred by the large bulk-buying behavior. But also ensure you do not overbuy and end up wasting products by having them expire on your shelves.

To implement your saving plan (creating wealth), ensure you have adequate arrangements to keep your savings away from your spending accounts. In modern times, there are many ways to create wealth, ranging from classical banking services to digital solutions.

Depending on your saving horizon, you should consider using several means of saving.

Classical bank products such as saving accounts help ensure short-term access to liquidity, while shareholding and investment banking help you to enhance personal finance and liquidity in the long run.